

Dear Parents and Students,

Though this school year is coming to an end, next year is only a few months away. In preparation for next year, I wanted to give you a head start on some reading projects. So while you are playing and relaxing this summer, don't forget to sit back and set some time aside for a good book. I would like you to read every day, but I will require only two books to be read. In addition to each book, I would like you to use sticky notes, label the attached worksheets, and do comprehension questions where required.

Required Books:

1. Tales of a Fourth Grade Nothing by Judy Blume
2. Any book by the author Andrew Clements

If you finish your summer reading and are looking for some more great books, go to Bookbub site for summer reading lists. Please review the list and choose any of the books to read.

Go on this site www.bookbub.com down load the books and read.

Sticky Notes, Worksheets, and Story Map

While you are reading the required books, please make sure to get some sticky notes. Choose at least two colors (preferable green and yellow) to highlight sections from the book. While reading the book you will need to use sticky notes to help remember parts of the book. After reading the book, complete the graphic organizer.

Sticky Notes

Green= Setting

Yellow= Main Character

Whenever you read about the setting, put a green sticky note on that page.

Whenever you read something about the main character or characters, describing him/her or describing his or her traits, put a yellow sticky note on that page.

Have a wonderful, safe and fun-filled summer!
